What is most suitable for every occasion? A wheel for every occasion Scribble Rider is a very unique racing game in which our mission will be to pull the most suitable wheels for each piece of the circuit in the lower frame. Every time we draw a shape, our wheels will change and we move differently. The goal in all levels is to get to the finish line for the other character. For that, we will have to use our reasoning and think a little. This way, our vehicle will rotate, navigate or fly, depending on the wheels we draw. Turn, swim, slice and fly with the latest 4x4 vehicle. All this comes in a beautiful 3D package with cool and minimalist graphics. In addition, it also has several vehicles and characters with fun animations. The bad thing is that almost every game in this studio, misses music and there are ads left. With a simple and original proposal, this title manages to make the genre of controlling games almost unintentional. If you like these types of games, then don't doubt downloading the MOT, because it's really worth it. Doodle Rider The player is required to ensure that his character wins the race, and to do so, you have to draw the shape of the wheels of the vehicle. This timekiller can remind you of another popular arcade game Draw Climber, which is based on the same idea. There is a special drawing room at the bottom of the screen, where you can create different circles, squares, triangles and more intricate shapes that then take shape for wheels. During the race, you'll climb up, cross the water and even fly, so always change the type of wheels to reach the end point of the route faster than your rivals. Get more money for the first places, this will allow you to open different skins. Scribble Rider is an interesting mobile game with exciting gameplay mechanics, with this Android game you won't get bored. VooDoo's latest hyper-casual driving game is here! Scribble Rider has you driving over floating, hilly terrains where you collect bonuses and coins. These rewards are used to upgrade your current car or buy a new one. By the end of each lap, you should be able to surpass the path without crashing. Scribble Rider's main goal is to drive as far as you can without falling down or colliding in structures. The catch is that every part of the path floats and is bumpy. At the same time, you need to have a large amount of gas in your car. The car will shut down immediately when it is completely running out of gas. You must repeat the same level and collect a new set of points. You maximize your gas using the physics of the game as part of your strategy. Diving down a downward slope will help your car gain momentum. Your vehicle should go so fast, if not faster than pressing the gas. It is also important to think about when to hit the brakes; pressing the brakes too early will slow you down while you drops the brake, brings you to a standstill. Stopping so quickly will send you and your car off balance, and eventually crash. A successful successful will allow you to buy parts such as engine, suspension, tires and all-wheel drive. You don't need to have in-depth vehicle knowledge to know how these parts work. The pop-up window is displayed and each part completely clarified. For example, you need your vehicle to withstand rough terrain and unexpected falls. You have to buy new shocks for that. Wacky but very challenging riding game Scribble Rider is best for casual mobile gamers who are looking to pass the time. This tests your intuition, making it very challenging and requires your full attention. Challenging yourself to balance out on floating rocks and obstacles is difficult in itself, even more so by letting you collect bonuses along the way. In general, the simple approach to gameplay and a wide range of challenges make it very rewarding to play.
